

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

For a user (viewer) to make an access to either or both of the picture server and the data server on the net, thereby having a picture data and a real-time data linked on a frame, and a desirable picture and a real-time data thereof viewed at a voluntary time.

There are arranged an automatic image retrieval system comprises a plurality of picture information such as a zoom picture and an overhead picture such as of a player in a sport game, a step of encoding them for transfer, and a picture server for storing the digitized picture data by using a net line, and a step of performing time-dependent inputs such as of the player's behavior and other information and transferring data thereof, and a data server for storing real-time data to be transferred by using the net line.